SPRINGFIELD POLICE DEPARTMENT 2005 ANNUAL STATISTICAL REPORT

Introduction

For a number of years the Springfield Police Department has published an Annual Report covering crime data for the City of Springfield and information about the Police Department. One of the objectives of this report is to give the citizens of Springfield a realistic view of their risks of victimization and to provide detailed information on criminal activity. With this knowledge, the Community and the Police Department can work together to develop effective crime abatement strategies and ensure the quality of life in the City of Springfield.

The overall reported crime rate for 2005 increased by 13.1% from 2004, driven largely by significant increases in car thefts (66.5% increase from 523 to 871) and fraud cases (51.3% increase from 269 to 407). Reports of crimes against persons rose 5.3%, behavioral crimes rose 1.1%, and property crimes rose 18.6%. This trend is in sharp contrast to national trends, which indicate that crime in general and property crime in particular are declining. One exception to that general trend is that car thefts in the Western region of the United States increased last year, but only 4.5% compared to the 66.5% reported in Springfield.

Arrests increased by 11.2% over the same time period. Arrest rates for crimes against persons decreased by 6.1%, behavioral crime arrests climbed by 11.1%, and property crime arrests increased by 17.2%. The most significant increase in property crime arrests was for forgeries, which increased 73.2%, from 508 to 880.

Uniform Crime Reporting data for 2005 will not be available until Fall of 2006; therefore, 2004 data will be reported for this year. In 2004, Springfield had an above average property crime rate compared to other Oregon cities, ranking 6th in the state for cities with over 10,000 population. In violent crimes, Springfield rated 8th in the state. By population, Springfield is the 9th largest city in the state.

This report is only one of many resources the Springfield Police Department provides to the community. Additional information about the Department and its operations is contained in the 2005 Springfield Police Department Calendar (which is free to the public) and at the Department's web site at www.ci.springfield.or.us/police/home.html.

The Police Department hopes that this statistical summary will meet the needs of the reader and serve as a comprehensive resource for information about the Department's activities and the state of crime in the community.

Suggestions for changes, corrections and additions for future years are encouraged. They should be directed to the Springfield Police Department, Attention: Services Bureau, 344 A Street, Springfield, OR 97477. Suggestions may also be faxed to (541) 726-3640, marked "Attention: Services Bureau".

STATISTICAL CRIME DATA

Introduction

For many years the reporting of crime statistics has been the accepted way to measure the amount of crime for a given area. Current arrest and/or calls-for-service data is compared against data for past time periods, or against a different geographic area, to establish a base line for an expected level of crime. In order to allow some reasonable means for tracking crime trends over time, and for making comparisons across jurisdictions with different criminal statutes, the FBI established a Uniform Crime Reporting Program (UCR) in 1930. Certain crimes or offenses were chosen to serve as an index. Most local jurisdictions also use additional crime categories in studying local crime patterns. The additional offenses used provide a more detailed look at what crime is like in their specific community. In this Annual Report the comparisons between different cities are based on UCR Part I and Part II crimes, explained in more detail below. For the data on crimes and arrests for the City of Springfield, the types of offenses are considerably expanded and the numbers will not match the UCR data. An overview of the UCR program is given below.

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program

The following information is excerpted from the Crime in the United States 2004 publication.

Summary of the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program is a nationwide, cooperative statistical effort of more than 17,000 city, university and college, county, state, tribal, and federal law enforcement agencies voluntarily reporting data on crimes brought to their attention. During 2004, law enforcement agencies active in the UCR Program represented 94.2% of the total population. The coverage amounted to 95.4 percent of the United States population in Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs), 86.9 percent of the population in cities outside metropolitan areas, and 89.2 percent in nonmetropolitan counties.

Since 1930, the FBI has administered the Program and issued periodic assessments of the nature and type of crime in the Nation. The Program's primary objective is to generate reliable information for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management; however, its data have over the years become one of the country's leading social indicators. The American public looks to Uniform Crime Reports for information on fluctuations in the level of crime, and criminologists, sociologists, legislators, municipal planners, the media, and other students of criminal justice use the statistics for varied research and planning purposes.

Historical Background

Recognizing a need for national crime statistics, the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) formed the Committee on Uniform Crime Records in the 1920s to develop a system of uniform police statistics. Establishing offenses known to law enforcement as the appropriate measure, the Committee evaluated various crimes on the basis of their seriousness, frequency of occurrence, pervasiveness in all geographic areas of the country, and likelihood of being reported to law enforcement. After studying state criminal codes and making an evaluation of the recordkeeping practices in use, the Committee completed a plan for crime reporting that became the foundation of the UCR Program in 1929.

Seven main offense classifications, known as Part I crimes, were chosen to gauge the state of crime in the Nation. These seven offense classifications included the violent crimes of murder and non-negligent manslaughter, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault and the property crimes of burglary, larceny-theft, and motor vehicle theft. By congressional mandate, arson was added as the eighth Part I offense in 1979.

During the early planning of the Program, it was recognized that the differences among criminal codes precluded a mere aggregation of state statistics to arrive at a national total. Further, because of the variances in punishment for the same offenses in different state codes, no distinction between felony and misdemeanor crimes was possible. To avoid these problems and provide nationwide uniformity in crime reporting, standardized offense definitions by which law enforcement agencies were to submit data without regard for local statutes were formulated.

In 1985, the UCR system was expanded to include a second level of reporting, now known as Part II offenses, including Simple Assault, Forgery, Fraud, Embezzlement, Stolen Property, Vandalism, Weapons Offenses, Prostitution, Sex Offenses, Drugs, Family Offenses, Liquor Offenses, Disorderly Conduct, Kidnapping, All Other, and Runaways.

PERSON CRIMES, PROPERTY CRIMES AND BEHAVIORAL CRIMES

In recent years, many jurisdictions have begun separating offenses or crimes into three categories, "Person Crimes", "Property Crimes", and "Behavioral Crimes".

Person Crimes are criminal offenses where the victim is present and the act is violent or threatening or has the potential of being physically harmful (e.g. murder, negligent homicide, rape and other sex crimes, robbery, assault, kidnapping, extortion).

Property Crimes are offenses that involve taking something of value by theft or deception or the destruction of property (e.g. burglary, theft, arson, vandalism, embezzlement, fraud, forgery). Property crimes are the type of crime that affects the most people in their day-to-day lives.

Behavioral Crimes are criminal offenses that violate laws relating to personal conduct, responsibility and public order (e.g. weapons offense, prostitution, drug abuse, liquor violation, disorderly conduct, curfew violations, D.U.I.I.).

Organizing offenses into groups of similar types of crimes by object category may help readers better understand the types of crime problems the community is having. In this report, the charts and graphs specifically for Springfield use this approach. The actual offenses for Part I and Part II crimes and Person, Property and Behavioral Crimes are the same – just organized differently and as used in Oregon, broader in scope and detail.

Crime can vary from one area to another by amount and also by type. Violent crimes are the most serious, since they most often result in injury to the victim. Consequently, police departments have traditionally focused a great deal of their resources on such crimes. However, over the last few years as various community policing programs have been initiated, it has become apparent that in most communities of moderate size, property crimes and behavioral crimes are better indicators for rating the overall feelings of safety in a community. It is these property and behavioral crimes that most often create the fear of crime and reduce the quality of life in the community. In a community like Springfield, a murder or forcible rape can heighten fears temporarily, but what most people hear about or see on an ongoing basis are property crimes such as theft from a vehicle, forgery or vandalism and behavioral crimes like aggressive panhandling, disorderly conduct or liquor violations.

DEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITY REPORTS

The remainder of this report contains information directly from the Department's own databases, including Calls for Service information, overall crime and arrest reports, and information on domestic violence activity in Springfield.

Because the information in this section is not reported to the FBI in this format, the numbers will not correspond with the UCR data reported in previous sections of this report. Rather than provide only the data which conforms to Uniform Crime Reporting requirements, the intent of the information presented here is to give the reader a sense of the broader activity level of the Department, and an idea of how those activity levels change over time.

The Domestic Disturbance Report, sometimes referred to as Abuse Prevention Act (APA) data, shows the frequency of domestic violence arrests in our community, as well as the frequency at which domestic violence restraining orders are violated.

Offenses in Uniform Crime Reporting

The Uniform Crime Reporting Program classifies offenses into two groups, Part I and Part II crimes. Each month, contributing agencies submit information on the number of Part I offenses (Crime Index) known to law enforcement; those offenses cleared by arrest or exceptional means; and the age, sex, and race of persons arrested. Contributors provide only arrest data for Part II offenses.

The Part I offenses, those that comprise the Crime Index due to their seriousness and frequency, are defined below:

Criminal homicide—a.) Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter: the willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another. Deaths caused by negligence, attempts to kill, assaults to kill, suicides, and accidental deaths are excluded. The Program classifies justifiable homicides separately and limits the definition to: (1) the killing of a felon by a law enforcement officer in the line of duty; or (2) the killing of a felon, during the commission of a felony, by a private citizen. b.) Manslaughter by negligence: the killing of another person through gross negligence. Traffic fatalities are excluded. While manslaughter by negligence is a Part I crime, it is not included in the Crime Index.

Forcible rape—The carnal knowledge of a female forcibly and against her will. Rapes by force and attempts or assaults to rape regardless of the age of the victim are included. Statutory offenses (no force used—victim under age of consent) are excluded.

Robbery—The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person or persons by force or threat of force or violence and/or by putting the victim in fear.

Aggravated assault—An unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe or aggravated bodily injury. This type of assault usually is accompanied by the use of a weapon or by means likely to produce death or great bodily harm. Simple assaults are excluded.

Burglary (breaking or entering)—The unlawful entry of a structure to commit a felony or a theft. Attempted forcible entry is included.

Larceny-theft (except motor vehicle theft)—The unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. Examples are thefts of bicycles or automobile accessories, shoplifting, pocket-picking, or the stealing of any property or article which is not taken by force and violence or by fraud. Attempted larcenies are included. Embezzlement, confidence games, forgery, worthless checks, etc., are excluded.

Motor vehicle theft—The theft or attempted theft of a motor vehicle. A motor vehicle is self-propelled and runs on the surface and not on rails. Motorboats, construction equipment, airplanes, and farming equipment are specifically excluded from this category.

Arson—Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

The Part II offenses, for which only arrest data are collected, are defined below:

Other assaults (simple)—Assaults and attempted assaults where no weapons are used and which do not result in serious or aggravated injury to the victim.

Forgery and counterfeiting—Making, altering, uttering, or possessing, with intent to defraud, anything false in the semblance of that which is true. Attempts are included.

Fraud—Fraudulent conversion and obtaining money or property by false pretenses. Confidence games and bad checks, except forgeries and counterfeiting, are included.

Embezzlement—Misappropriation or misapplication of money or property entrusted to one's care, custody, or control.

Stolen property; buying, receiving, possessing—Buying, receiving, and possessing stolen property, including attempts.

Vandalism—Willful or malicious destruction, injury, disfigurement, or defacement of any public or private property, real or personal, without consent of the owner or persons having custody or control. Attempts are included.

Weapons; carrying, possessing, etc.—All violations of regulations or statutes controlling the carrying, using, possessing, furnishing, and manufacturing of deadly weapons or silencers. Attempts are included.

Prostitution and commercialized vice—Sex offenses of a commercialized nature, such as prostitution, keeping a bawdy house, procuring, or transporting women for immoral purposes. Attempts are included.

Sex offenses (except forcible rape, prostitution, and commercialized vice)—Statutory rape and offenses against chastity, common decency, morals, and the like. Attempts are included.

Drug abuse violations—State and/or local offenses relating to the unlawful possession, sale, use, growing, and manufacturing of narcotic drugs. The following drug categories are specified: opium or cocaine and their derivatives (morphine, heroin, codeine); marijuana; synthetic narcotics—manufactured narcotics that can cause true addiction (demerol, methadone); and dangerous nonnarcotic drugs (barbiturates, benzedrine).

Gambling—Promoting, permitting, or engaging in illegal gambling.

Offenses against the family and children—Nonsupport, neglect, desertion, or abuse of family and children. Attempts are included.

Driving under the influence—Driving or operating any vehicle or common carrier while drunk or under the influence of liquor or narcotics.

Liquor laws—State and/or local liquor law violations except drunkenness and driving under the influence. Federal violations are excluded.

Drunkenness—Offenses relating to drunkenness or intoxication. Driving under the influence is excluded.

Disorderly conduct—Breach of the peace.

Vagrancy—Begging, loitering, etc. Includes prosecutions under the charge of suspicious person.

All other offenses—All violations of state and/or local laws except those listed above and traffic offenses.

Suspicion—No specific offense; suspect released without formal charges being placed.

Curfew and loitering laws (persons under age 18)—Offenses relating to violations of local curfew or loitering ordinances where such laws exist.

Runaways (persons under age 18)—Limited to juveniles taken into protective custody under provisions of local statutes.
